To Whom It May Concern,

It is my pleasure to recommend Mr. Francis Tai, whom I worked closely with for many years while serving as Managing Director of Timely Products Co., Limited, one of Dale (HK) Ltd.'s contracted Electronics Manufacturing Services (EMS) providers.

Throughout our business relationship, Francis served as Dale (HK) Ltd.'s primary executive representative in managing our strategic manufacturing partnership. He worked directly with our executive management team on commercial negotiations, manufacturing strategy, engineering coordination, production operations, and major business decisions. He also worked closely with our Finance, Accounting, and Shipping teams on shipment scheduling, payment planning, accounts payable coordination, and manufacturing cost management, while leading cross-functional execution across Dale's Sales & Marketing, R&D, QA, Production, Supply Chain, Shipping, and Accounting teams to ensure seamless collaboration between our two organizations.

Francis successfully led complex manufacturing programs involving cross-company engineering coordination, production readiness, cost management, capacity planning, and manufacturing operations. His leadership consistently improved throughput, manufacturing efficiency, product quality, cost control, and on-time delivery while strengthening the strategic manufacturing partnership between our two companies.

One of Francis' most significant achievements was leading the successful recovery of our major OEM program, which had been delayed for nearly one year and involved several million Hong Kong dollars of excess inventory. Leading Dale's Sales & Marketing, Engineering, and Production teams, he brought together AKAI, suppliers, and our engineering and manufacturing teams to restore the program to production within approximately three months, earning the trust and respect of our management team.

Recognizing Francis' technical expertise and leadership, Timely also engaged him as Project Leader for the development of our first notebook computer program. Leading engineering coordination, supplier management, manufacturing readiness, and overall project execution, he successfully delivered Timely's first notebook computer program approximately two months ahead of schedule and within budget.

I have always regarded Francis as an exceptional business leader, a valued business partner, and a trusted friend. I have no hesitation in recommending him for any senior executive leadership position.

Should you require any further information, please feel free to contact me.
